

AQUAQUAD LICENSEE OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE

To better serve dealers and boaters throughout the US, AquaQuad is looking to regionalize its manufacturing. The company is actively looking for licensees or joint venture and manufacturing/distribution partnerships.

"We want to ensure our dealers and customers are really benefitting from their relationship with us," said Oliver Nudds, AquaQuad CEO. "By moving to a license arrangement, we can offer our dealers better prices and deliver some product changes."

"Currently, we foresee the need for three licensees to cover the US, one for the Northeast, one for the Midwest and another for the West Coast," said Nudds. "We're ready to speak with any interested parties and they can contact AquaQuad directly."

AquaQuad's rigid inflatable craft are ideal for first time boat owners and old pros looking for more on-water fun. The electric-powered ELS model is great to enjoy with small children, since even they can operate it, and as rental boats on small ponds or marinas. The CLS is best for older kids looking for an easy-to-manuever runabout, while the CLX is perfect for the tender and fishing markets. All models are CE-certified.
